1 mark per completed entry (Cost of Sales regarded as one entry) Deduct 1 mark if accounts not balanced

b. Making reference to a specific example, explain how the GST Clearing account could have a closing debit balance.

The GST paid on expenses and assets, and the GST charged on credit purchases of inventory (1 mark) is greater than the GST collected on cash sales and GST charged on credit sales. (1 mark)

This may have been due to a purchase of inventory that remains unsold at the end of the reporting period or a purchase of a non-current asset. (1 mark)

c. Explain why GST collected from cash sales is not recognised as revenue.

2 marks

- is an inflow of economic benefits (GST on Cash Sales) in the form of an increase in assets (Bank)
- but does not increase owner's equity due to an increase in Profit or a Capital contribution, rather it increases the business' GST Liability

1 mark per dot point

For every $1 of the total assets, the firm has generated $3.80 in sales, this is a favourable trend

Given both formula's have the same denominator (average assets) then the discrepancy could be explained by an increase in sales, whilst assets held constant, hence ATO increased. If expenses increased more proportionally than the increase in sales, then there could have have been a drop in the net profit, causing a decrease in ROA.

Any of the following responses

1: Number of website hits, 2: customer satisfaction surveys, 3: sales dollar earned per hour worked by sales staff, 4: percentage of sales returns.

Question 12 (3 marks)

The significant decrease in APTO (in days) means that the business is paying its Accounts

Payable quicker than the previous period. This suggests that the business has decided to take advantage of the generous credit terms offered by the suppliers, i.e the APTO (16 days) is similar to the discount terms offered (14 days). The business seems to be endeavouring to pay off its debts within 2 weeks to receive the 5% discount offered.
