Case Study

Fabulous Furnishings Pty Ltd is a business that has been selling a variety of products including sofas, beds, tables, and chairs since 2010.

In 2019, the CEO Fran Jennings introduced an employee incentivization program in an effort to increase levels of customer satisfaction with their in-store experience. This was done in response to an increase in customer complaints. This incentivization program involves:

- individual employees being given a 5% commission from all sales derived from customers referred to the store by them
- an overall 2% profit sharing arrangement, which is equally distributed to all employees.

In January 2021, Fran Jennings undertook a review of this program by undertaking staff surveys.

Employees were also given the opportunity to write down the reasons for their views. A selection of such views are reproduced below:

Employee 1:

"I think it is great that I am given the opportunity to earn commissions on top of my base salary. It would be better though if the commissions were slightly higher, considering my salary is only slightly higher than the award rate."

Employee 2:

"The whole profit-sharing arrangement has put me off from putting much effort in. Since the profit sharing involves all employees equally benefiting, irrespective of their efforts, what is the point?"

Employee 3:

"There needs to be more oversight about how commissions are organised. A fellow employee took credit for a person I referred to the shop, and despite my complaints, nothing has been done to fix this."
