You are encouraged to work through the following practice exam papers. The papers from 2008 to 2015 may contain some questions that are no longer in the course. Also they may not have questions that are now in the course. Please refer to the list below when working through exam papers prior to 2016.

What has changed in the Year 12 Methods course for 2016?

No longer in the course.	New in the course.
- No functions involving absolute values.	- Matrices only used for transformations and multiple or no solutions.
- Related rates of change.	- Sampling
- Double angle and compound angle formulae	- Sampling proportions
- Markov chains	- Inverse transformation
	- Hybrid functions